Comments: Polly, you are such an asset to the class! I love having you in my class. Every class needs a good EIS so that class can go deep emotionally and you are the one who makes it safe for the class to deep dive. I love that you have opened your home to your class mates and you see really part of the glue that keeps your class connected. That is good stuff! I think you have worked really hard this year on cleaning up your boundaries in your 2nd chakra and as you continue to do that, you will become more and more "safe" for people to connect to. Your goal is to open up your 2nd chakra for deep intimacy with people but to keep it really "clean" with good boundaries. That is a recipe for a great healer and someone who can really do relationships. I think you are doing great with that. Better and better and you have shown real improvement here. As you own your own power and learn to care for you own poor me parts this will become even easier. I commend you for the deep level of work you are doing in school and I feel your commitment to both yourself and the program. Way to work it!
